Forgiveness is one of the greatest gifts we can give

We are all human and we can all make mistakes and need forgiveness. These mistakes lead to disagreement, resentment, sorrow, or a sense of betrayal. But forgiveness is human too. To forgive does not mean that you condone wrongdoing. If someone has hurt or betrayed you it takes a bigger person to forgive and let go of any hatred or resentment.

You cannot control how other people may hurt you but you can control how you deal with it. Though it can feel very comforting or powerfully releasing to be forgiven, make no mistake, we do not forgive for the other person; we forgive for ourselves. Forgiveness is for our own growth and happiness. When we hold on to hurt, pain, resentment, and anger it harms us far more than it harms the offender. Forgiveness frees us to live in the present. Reliving the wrong that was done to us keeps us living in the past and missing today's beauty.

You may think of God as the final dispenser of forgiveness, but we too have the power to forgive. We may find it difficult at times to pray the Our Father: "And forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us." God stands ready and willing to forgive us, but asks that we extend the same forgiveness to others first. If we have resentment and bitterness in our hearts, it's time to give it over to God. Let Him heal us and give us the ability to forgive. Only with the power of God and the Holy Spirit working in our lives can we love and forgive others. There is no love without forgiveness, and there is no forgiveness without love.

Lenten Reflection on 7th & 14th March at Halla Inse Ban

Due to the success of a reflection day two years ago for Readers and Eucharist ministers in Ardferret Retreat Centre . We were encouraged to explore something locally and invite the other parishes of the unit to join us during Lent . Abbeyfeale, Athea are delighted to participate , we have organized two evenings of reflection to be held in Templeglantine Halla on Thursday 7th of March and Thursday 14th of March.

We are privileged to have a woman who has made a remarkable journey in terms of Geography and Faith. She started life in South Africa as a Reformed Presbyterian “with a Baptist mother” and lead by the providence of God, human curiosity and a deep desire to be faithful, she came to work and live in Ireland, and then, followed three of her family into the Catholic Church. Dr Jessie Rogers lectures in Scripture at St Patrick’s College, Maynooth.

She has a wonderful, unstuffy way of talking about the wonders of God, and presenting a challenging prophet vision for our time. Deeply knowledgeable, she carries it lightly, and in listening to her you have the privilege of encountering a soul seeking to know, love and serve the Lord and Mankind.

Speaking in Dublin lately she challenged listeners to ask not: ‘is God on my side?’ but “am I on God’s?” “It is when we reach out beyond our comfort zone, when we work side by side, joining in God’s work in the world, that we are drawn closer together,” she said.

Dr Rogers came to Ireland with her family 10 years ago to work in Mary Immaculate College in Limerick. At the time they were all dedicated Baptists. Her youngest daughter was first to want to become a Catholic when her class in the local primary school were getting ready for First Holy Communion.

“My eldest daughter, who was 15 at the time, said ‘I’d like to be Catholic as well’. A fellow professor, Fr Eamonn Conway from Mary Immaculate College, received the girls, and gave them Holy Communion and confirmed the elder daughter. “He did a wonderful service for us,” recalled Dr Rogers. “Then a few years later my husband decided, and I followed 18 months ago.”

At that time, she was working at Maynooth. “I had a sense that was what the Lord was inviting me to do. I think if I had felt any pressure, there’s enough of a Protestant in me but as it was I felt very welcomed, I had a sense of belonging.” “You can’t pray with somebody and not discover those bonds that join you together as part of the body of Christ.”

The two evenings of reflection in Templeglantine are open to all our Pastoral council members, Readers and Eucharist ministers , Pastoral care team for funerals , or any parishioners who has interest so save the dates and make this opportunity for reflection part of your Lenten commitment. Looking forward to seeing you .
